

Change in human behaviour can be associated with an increased direct human impact on other planetary boundaries.

These are called parallel drivers.